TEXAS TO COME HOME.

The Big Battleship Old Hero to Come to Her Birthplace for Repairs. The following good news from Washington, D. C., will be appreciated by our people generally. Representative Wise has induced Secretary Long to order the battleship Texas to the Portsmouth (Va.) Navy yard. The Secretary was at first disposed to have the Texas dry-docked at Brooklyn, as he believed the work could be more expeditiously and thoroughly performed at that yard. Dr. Wise pointed out to the Secretary the ample facilities of the Portsmouth (Va.) Yard and he finally consented to issue the necessary order in favor of the latter yard. "The Texas is now on the South Atlantic station and has been ordered to participate in the ceremonies incident to the installation of Mr. Allen, the recently appointed civil governor of Porto Rico, which will take place at San Juan on the 27th instant. The Texas will then immediately proceed to Portsmouth, Va., for repairs, which will involve the expenditure of several thousand dollars."

SENATOR CLARK'S CASE

The Committee Finds His Election Null and Void. He Has Brought Montana Into Bad Repute by Bribing Legislators to Support His Candidacy for the Senate—The Committee's Report. (By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.) Washington, April 23.—Senator Chandler, from the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, to-day submitted to the Senate the report of the committee in the case of Senator Clark, of Montana. The report is comparatively brief, covering fifteen pages of printed matter. It does not rehearse the testimony, but simply presents the findings of the committee and its reasons for its course. The finding of the committee is stated as follows: ELECTION IS VOID. "The finding of the committee is that the election to the Senate of William A. Clark, of Montana, is null and void, on account of bribes, attempted bribes and corrupt practice by his agents, and of violation of the laws of Montana defining and punishing crimes against elective franchise. In view of this finding, the committee reports and unanimously recommends the adoption by the Senate of the following resolution: "Resolved, That William A. Clark, was not duly and legally elected to a seat in the Senate of the United States by the Legislature of the State of Montana." The report concludes with a strong recommendation for early consideration of the case, as follows: EARLY ACTION. "The Senate should, as a duty to itself and to the country, demonstrate by its action in this case that seats in the United States Senate procured as Senator Clark's have been procured, cannot be retained by the deliberate judgment of the Senate. "The Senate also owes a duty to the people of Montana, who, conscious of the bad repute into which the State had fallen by reason of vast expenditures of money in connection with its elections, manifested such a public sentiment that the Legislature of 1895 passed a statute which, if obeyed, would have redeemed the State from its bad name. For the direct and gross violations of that statute and the consequent discredit which continues to rest upon the State, Montana has a right to expect a prompt and decisive remedy from the action of the Senate upon the report of this committee."

LUCK CURED A SENATOR. Some of His High Winnings in an Old Time Game. Wanted to Lose $5 to Pay for His Dinner, But Won Thousands Against His Will—Never Touched a Card Since. (Washington Post.) "I came here with the first Senator from Minnesota after the Territory was admitted as a State," said Colonel Cole Martin to a group of listeners one evening the past week. "Henry N. Rice served one term as United States Senator, and I, being a resident of St. Paul when he was elected by the Legislature, and taking part in the fight, concluded to come on to Washington, as in those days, 1858, Washington was a wide-open town, and faro was as free then as a beer lunch is now. Of course, had an acquaintance among the sports, and shortly after I erected my tepee in the Capital the Senator invited me to visit him. While making the rounds one afternoon we got hungry, and I invited him into Pringle, which was at that time the finest gambling house in Washington. The proprietor served three elegant meals a day to his guests and patrons without charge. It was a rendezvous for all manner and kinds of men without money. You could meet there in groups a foreign Ambassador, a United States Senator, Judges, Generals, and, of course, men like myself, who followed the green cloth as a profession. I was then in or about my 20th year, and thought no more of 'win or lose' $5,000 than I would now of a single $5 bill. There were no ten or twenty-five cent chips in those days. The 'whites' cost $1, the very lowest price of them. Nobody thought of buying a stack of chips under $50, and play was high. I was as high a roller as the best of them, for just previous to my arrival in Washington I had lost as 'bandier' in two nights over $20,000."

WANTED TO PAY FOR THE MEAL. "Well, Senator Rice and myself enjoyed Pringle's fine spread. I introduced the Senator, and as he had never played a card, like old Matt Carpenter, he knew all the 'hoax' and was gracious and democratic in his associations with them; he felt embarrassed over eating such an elegant meal and not having to pay for it. Passing a faro 'lay-out' in the next room, he threw down a five-dollar gold piece on a card, expecting to lose it. To his surprise and chagrin, however, he won. This made the matter worse than ever, as he did not want to win, but to lose the $5 as an indirect payment for the meal he had eaten. While he was in a quandary I bought a stack of chips and soon became absorbed in the game. "The Senator's bets were placed haphazard, he not knowing whether they were placed right or not, and not caring, except that he wanted to lose, and get out of the place. But lose he couldn't, and I soon dropped out, being broke, to watch his play and marvel at his ever increasing pile. He soon had a crowd around him, which added to his embarrassment, and he appealed to me to help him get broke, as he wanted to get out, and did not want to take any of the bank's money with him. Well, this was the funniest snap I have ever experienced in my life of over seventy years. There sat the Senator and myself playing for all we were worth to reduce his winnings, and play any way we chose the piles of chips increased. I, who had been so unlucky, caught the fever of the Senator's good luck and I won in a streak. "The Senator's face was as white as his shirt, and he was as scared a man as ever I saw in my life. But the play went on, and owing to the fact that at that time there was no limit at Pringle's, the bets were so high that the modern twenty-five cent chip player would get the grip if I should mention the size of the bets. Finally, Mr. Pringle called me to one side, and told me that his partners objected to the game without a limit. He was willing himself to play the bank without it, but he was compelled to defer to the wishes of his partners, and would place the limit at $250 bet. "He said it was all right to have me play on, as he liked me and all that, but that was the first man who ever forced him to put a limit on the game. When I returned to the table I quietly informed the Senator and he looked distressed, as he saw no chance from his point of view in getting rid of his winnings at a $250 limit. We played until midnight, and the Senator at last yielded to fatigue, and ordered me to cash in. When he counted the roll in his room, our joint winnings were just $1,300, of which sum he staked me, as my share, to $10,000. Said he, when he gave me the money: "Martin, I never played a card in my life but this afternoon, and I will never play another one as long as I live. This money I will do something with which shall not immediately benefit myself or my family."

WHAT HE DID WITH THE MONEY. "I visited St. Paul twenty years after this occurrence and met the Senator. True to his word, he had never touched a card, and I learned from others who got wind of the play in Washington that the Senator's winnings were expended in helping struggling young fellows to get a start in life, accompanied in every case by the condition that they should never play in a gaming house. "I venture to say, that this is the most remarkable case on record of a man's unexpected and undesired large winnings turning him against gambling and card playing and scaring him almost to death. I was then so reckless with money that it made no sort of difference to me whether I won or lost $20,000, so you can imagine how I regarded the Senator's squeamishness. But you see he was right after all, and took the proper view of the matter, for

A BURLARY. Mr. Edward West's residence on Chestnut street was burglarized yesterday morning about 3 o'clock, and Mr. West was relieved of a new suit of clothes, hat and shoes and $4 in small change. The articles were stolen from the bed chamber where Mr. and Mrs. West were sleeping. A bureau at the foot of the bed was ransacked, together with a closet. A bright light was burning in the room at the time. Mrs. West being the first to awake, she found both windows to her room hoisted and saw the man, a small negro, jump through the window. The shoes and hat belonging to the intruder were found next morning on the steps to the house, and a bludgeon about two feet long was found at the window.

Skinner, pastor of Berkley Avenue Baptist Church, preached Sunday morning on the "Resurrection of Christ." A game of ball was played between the Young Lions and Red Ribbons on Hardy's flat yesterday afternoon, resulting in a score of 12 to 4 in favor of the former.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETS.

License Tax of $50 On Motor Cars and Trailers Levied. Warm Discussion Over a Bill of a Contractor For Work in Excess of His Contract Reader-Gilbert Nuptials - Stole from Captain of Schooner - Brief Mention.

The Town Council met last night, with President Keeling in the chair and the following members present: Messrs. Robertson, Parks, Williams, Baillie, Jacobs and Martin. The recorder's report showed a balance of $66.50 on hand. An ordinance was adopted to reduce the width of Whitehead and Lowden avenues through Magnolia Cemetery from 60 to 50 feet. A bill was presented by Mr. Thomas Butt, contractor for street grading, for work in excess of his contract. The matter was referred to a special committee as follows: Whetstone, Jacobs and Baillie, to investigate and report at the next meeting. Mr. Tilletson, of the Berkley street railway, was heard relative to a 3 per cent. charge on net receipts. He thought the charge, together with county and town taxes, would be burdensome. The tax was then changed and made $50 a year on motor and trailer cars. Dr. W. E. McConville's term as Health Officer having expired he was re-elected for thirty days. The committee to confer with the Board of Directors of the Merchants' and Planter's Bank reported in favor of depositing the town's money in that bank. Inquiry was made relative to the disposition of the nuisance caused by the condition of Old Market Hall, and the Mayor was authorized to confer with owners and ask that it be put in sanitary condition at once. Inspector Gray was vested with police authority, the Health Officer having encountered difficulty in removing several patients to the hospital. The Health Officer's report was read, showing only two cases of contagious diseases in the town. The Health Officer was asked about the accommodations for patients at the Craney Island Hospital. He thought the conditions very favorably and said the patients were satisfied with the accommodations. Residents of Ivey street complained of a nuisance caused by water allowed to stand until it became green. The property owners between Sixth and Seventh streets were granted the privilege of opening a ten foot lane between their property and the cemetery. Mr. Robertson tendered his resignation as a member of the special committee on grading streets. It was not accepted.
